INT. LIVING ROOM - MORNING

The room is filled with morning sunlight. Simran (20) walks in, a bit disheveled but with a spark in her eyes. She spots her mother, Mrs. Sharma (45), sipping tea. Riya (18) is sitting on the couch, engrossed in her phone.

NARRATOR (V.O.)

In a small corner of the Sharma household, a story of dreams and aspirations unfolds.

SIMRAN

(casually)

Morning, Maa.

MRS. SHARMA

(eyebrow raised)

Simran, abhi toh dopahar bhi nahi hui hai. Raat bhar kahan thi tum?

SIMRAN

(nervously)

Woh .., kuch ajeeb ho gaya kal raat.

Mrs. Sharma looks at her daughter suspiciously. Riya looks up from her phone, curious.

MRS. SHARMA

Ajeeb? Kya mujhe pata chalega?

NARRATOR (V.O.)

Amidst the quiet morning, a revelation stirs the air.

SIMRAN

(Hesitantly)

Trust me, Maa. Main zindagi mein kabhi bhi aise mehsoos nahi ki. Peheli baar itne saalon baad, mujhe apni passion mil gaya hai!

Mrs. Sharma is intrigued and puts her cup down. Riya puts down her phone, now fully engaged.

MRS. SHARMA

(eyebrow raised)

Passion?

NARRATOR (V.O.)

Passion - a word echoing with promises and uncertainties.

SIMRAN

(nodding)

Music, Maa. Kal raat, mujhe ek club mein ek jabardast live performance sunne mila. Beats, rhythm, lyrics - jaise mera dil music ke saath sync ho gaya ho. Main samjha nahi sakti, par mujhe pata hai ki main yahi karna chahti hoon. Main music mein career banana chahti hoon.

MRS. SHARMA

Kya tum mazak kar rahe ho?

SIMRAN

(earnestly)

Nahi, Maa sachmei. Main music sirf sunna nahi chahti, balki.. balki khud banana chahti hoon. Main ek musician banna chahti hoon mummaa!

Riya looks at Simran with a mix of surprise and curiosity.

RIYA

(smiling)

Wow, Di! That sounds amazing. Music, seriously?

SIMRAN

(smiling)

Haan, Riya. I've never felt more alive.

Mrs. Sharma looks at both her daughters, concern written on her face.

MRS. SHARMA

(concerned)

Par beta, music mein career banana kafi mushkil hota hai aur challenging bhi hai. Aur stability? Security?

SIMRAN

(passionate)

Maa, main samajhti hoon. Lekin main apni zindagi stability ke liye nahi bitana chahti. Main har subah uthkar, din ki shuruaat se nahi darna chahti. Music mera calling hai, aur iss baar main use ignore nahi kar sakti mumma!

NARRATOR (V.O.)

And so, the conversation takes an unexpected turn.

Mrs. Sharma gets worried after listening to her daughters.

MRS. SHARMA

(softening)

Beta, main sirf teri chinta karti hoon. Mujhe teri future ki fikr hai. Sab log nahi ban sakte hai ismei career. Kaafe mehnat karna padta hai, bohot challenges hai.. It’s too risky, Simran.

SIMRAN

Maa, main bahut mehnat karungi. Zindagi mei peheli baar, mere andar mujhe ek aag jalte hue mehsoos hoti hai. Bas mujhe apne dil ki sunne ka ek mauka do, please, meri yeh aag mat bhujne do.

MRS. SHARMA

Simran par engineering ka kya? Pichle teen saal ki mehenat par tum paani fer rahi ho! Agar degree khatam karke jaaongi toh..

SIMRAN

Mumma, I understand par..now or never ki baat hai mumma! Yeh sapna mei hote hue dekh sakti hu! Akele nahi hu mei! I have friends, dost hai mere and we know ki kuch toh hai humare andar! If we just try hard, we know we can make it.

Riya interjects.

RIYA

(smiling)

Haan, mumma. Simran di bilkul sahi keh rahi hai. Hum dono saath mei hai ismei.

MRS. SHARMA

(sighs)

Theek hai, Simran. Apne passion ko pursue kar, lekin mujhe sirf ek vaada kar ki tu poori koshish karegi.

Simran and Riya both hug their mother.

SIMRAN

(teary-eyed)

Shukriya, mumma.

RIYA

(smiling)

Hum dono milkar yeh sabit karenge ki humare sapne sach hote hai.

NARRATOR (V.O.)

In the quiet corners of the Sharma home, dreams whisper promises, and the journey of passion begins. The curtains fall, leaving behind an unwritten chapter, a story penned by the melodies of dreams and the beats of relentless pursuit.